Wish respectfully to call the attention of the public to the position they hold as buyers and distributors of Tea.

The large extension of their Tea Trade of late years has enabled them as buyers of Tea, to dispense with intermediate aid, and to buy Tea direct through their own Tea Brokers.

In order to show the advantages thus gained, it will be necessary to relate briefly the manner in which Tea finds its way into the hands of the consumers.

When a cargo of Tea arrives in the London Docks it is placed in the hands of Tea Brokers, whose business it is to negotiate between the owner of the Tea and the intending purchasers.

—or to offer the Tea by auction. This they do at the trifling cost of 1 per cent. (10/- in the £100) payable by seller and buyer.

The Tea is bought up by Tea Merchants, who in turn distribute the article to the Tea Dealers throughout the country, in quantities and upon terms to suit the convenience of the retail trade.

To buy successfully at first hand requires—

That the Merchant has such a knowledge of the Tea Trade as will enable him to make a judicious selection from the large variety of Teas offered.

That he must be able to pay cash for the Tea before it actually comes into his possession, and that he must be able to buy Tea in large quantities, or in their original "breaks" or lots.

Their largely increasing business and long experience and standing in the Tea Trade, have enabled PHILLIPS and Co. to meet these conditions, and in consequence they are placed as buyers on the footing of Tea Merchants.

This is a position held but by few firms who retail Tea throughout the United Kingdom, and they confidently assert that this is a position which cannot possibly be improved upon.

The advantages gained from this course will plainly be seen, as it enables their customers through them to come into closer contact with the producer, saving, as it does, the entire profits of the Tea Merchants, and other intermediate men.

The Prices of their Blends will remain as below, but by supplying an unsurpassed quality of tea, PHILLIPS & Co. intend to place completely at the disposal of their Customers the advantages to be derived from buying Tea at first hand.

The following is a list of their blends of Pure Black Teas:

ASAM PEKOE 3s 0d
FINEST SOUCHONG 2s 6d
FINEST SOUCHONG 2s 0d
GOOD BROKEN SOUCHONG, 1s 8d
GOOD BROKEN SOUCHONG, 1s 6d
GOOD CONGOU 1s 4d

These blends are composed of growths from India, China, and Ceylon, the names affixed merely designating the chief characteristics of the Teas.
